

ARTH 600

Historiography and Methodology in Art History

Prof. Robert DeCaroli
Thursday 4:30 – 7:10

Research 201

Course Description/Objectives:

This course examines the history of Art History as an area of study in order to identify shifts in practice and use of evidence over time. We will explore the ways in which scholars often say as much about the time they are writing in as they do about the times they are writing about. In order to accomplish this we will look at a variety of theoretical approaches including Formalism, Marxism, and Post-Modern Theories. We will also consider the ways in which scholars in the non-West have responded to these methodologies and to the cultural biases often contained within them. Students should be prepared to read critically, participate in discussions, make class presentations, and engage in research for the written assignments.

Office Hours: Monday and Wednesday 11:00-12:00 and by appointment in Robinson B 371D

Email: rdecarol@gmu.edu

Course Requirements:	Participation	10%
	10 Weekly Reading Response Papers	20%
	Paper Topic Proposal	10%
	Research Paper (15-20 pages)	50%
	Class Presentation	10%

The class meetings will consist of seminar-style discussions on specific topics. These meetings will form the core of the course material so it is strongly advised that you attend class consistently. ALL students are expected to participate in class discussions.

Each week students will be expected to turn in a 1 page Reading Response Paper that will address a specific question about the readings for that week. In the case of an absence it is the student's responsibility to get the assignment for the following week.

All students will need to turn in a Paper Topic Proposal, in which the subject of the research paper is discussed and bibliographic information is provided.

The Research Paper will involve independent research. More information on all of these assignments will be provided during the term.

Grading Policies:

A	100-93%	C+	79-77%
A-	92-90%	C	76-70%
B+	89-87%	D	69-60%
B	86-83%	F	59% and lower
B-	82-80%

This class is a seminar centered on the discussion of assigned texts. A student's class participation grade will be evaluated not according to the amount of talking that student does, but rather according to whether that student contributes thoughtfully and constructively, based on a careful consideration of the class readings. Obviously, students cannot contribute to class discussion if they are absent; consequently, repeated unexcused absences will be reflected in their participation grade.

Extensions will be given ONLY in cases of emergencies or illnesses with proper documentation (doctor's note etc.) In all other cases (family obligations, religious holidays, disabilities etc.), extensions may be granted if I am informed well BEFORE the deadline.

Papers are due IN CLASS on the day specified in the schedule. Late papers will be marked down five points (half a grade) for every weekday and ten points (a full grade) for every weekend they are late. Email submissions are also possible.

Papers will be handed back once in class. If you are not present on the day papers are handed back it is your responsibility to ask me for the graded assignment.

Please shut off all cell phones and other electronic devices before class starts. Anyone using the phone during class (including for texting) will be asked to leave.

Adherence to codes of academic honesty is expected on all assignments and in all testing situations. I take the Honor Code (as stipulated in the university undergraduate catalog) very seriously. This code is a simple expression of respect for the course, your classmates and yourself. Cheating and Plagiarism are forbidden (obviously).

For those who do not know what Plagiarism is, it can be defined as: presenting, as one's own the words, work or opinions of someone else without giving them proper acknowledgment. Plagiarism can also refer to borrowing the sequence of ideas, arrangement of material, or pattern of thought of someone else without giving them proper credit. Plagiarism can be avoided by proper use of footnotes.
