Course Learning Outcomes

Learning Outcomes for the Global Understanding Mason Core Requirement:

The goal of the Mason Core global understanding category is to help students see the world from multiple perspectives, reflect upon their positions in a global society, and be prepared for future engagement as global citizens. While it may include historical perspective, global understanding courses focus primarily on contemporary understanding of one's place in a global society.

Courses in this category must meet a minimum of three of the following learning outcomes.

1. Identify and articulate one's own values and how those values influence their interactions and relationships with others, both locally and globally.
2. Demonstrate understanding of how the patterns and processes of globalization make visible the interconnections and differences among and within contemporary global societies.
3. Demonstrate the development of intercultural competencies.
4. Explore individual and collective responsibilities within a global society through analytical, practical, or creative responses to problems or issues, using resources appropriate to the field.

Learning Outcomes for History 329:

At the end of this course, students will exhibit the following skills which relate to the first three global understanding learning outcomes:

1. Demonstrate familiarity with the main themes in modern Russian and Soviet history and show how historical and cultural particularities interact with global trends to develop specific social, cultural, economic, and political regimes.
2. Explain the particular local and larger global social tensions and political movements that brought about the Russian Revolution.
3. Explain the basic foundations of the Soviet socialist system in the political, economic, social, and cultural spheres and how those foundations arise from and yet differ from historical and modern American and global systems.
4. Explain the sources of stability and instability within the Soviet system and an understanding of its applicability to the contemporary global order.
5. Explain the attempts to construct a non-socialist society in the wake of the Soviet collapse, the successes and failures of the integration of Russia into the global system, and the tensions those successes and failures reveal about the global political, economic, cultural, and social environment.
6. Practice critical reading and proper citation of primary and secondary sources, including texts, images, music, films, and websites, understanding the particular social, cultural, historical, and political context within which those sources were created.

Technology Requirements

- Activities and assignments in this course will regularly use the Blackboard learning system, available at <https://mymason.gmu.edu>. Students are required to have regular, reliable access to a computer with an updated operating system (recommended: Windows 10 or Mac OSX 10.13 or higher) and a stable broadband Internet connection (cable modem, DSL, satellite broadband, etc., with a consistent 1.5 Mbps [megabits per second] download speed or higher. You can check your speed settings using the speed test on this website.)
- Activities and assignments in this course will also regularly use web-conferencing software (Zoom and possibly Blackboard Collaborate). In addition to the requirements above, students are required to have a device with a functional camera and microphone. In an emergency, students can connect through a telephone call, but video connection is the expected norm.

Note: If you are using an employer-provided computer or corporate office for class attendance, please verify with your systems administrators that you will be able to install the necessary applications and that system or corporate firewalls do not block access to any sites or media types.

Course Schedule

The full course schedule is available via the Course Calendar menu on the Blackboard site. As the course is currently under construction due to the COVID19 transition to online teaching, the Course Calendar will be continually updated throughout the term as new Modules are opened up. No additional assignments will be added to Modules once they are opened to students.

Each Module represents one week of the semester. Modules are scheduled to be completed from Saturday through Friday of each week. New Modules are opened one week in advance of their start date.

Assignments Description

- 1. Discussion Board Posts (20%): In nearly every Module, students will be required to provide an initial post and at least two responses to posts to the course discussion board. While typical practice will require an initial post prior to each Module's Synchronous Session and replies by the end of the Module, pay close attention to the specific instructions and due dates for each discussion board. These posts will be graded in accord with the timeliness of their submission and the quality of the comments. Starting with the discussion board in Module 2, a rubric is available to show how grades are assigned. All Discussion Board assignments except Module 1 are equally weighted, and the combined score in all discussion boards is weighted at 20% of the final course grade. The first is worth half, since no replies are required, but earning extra credit on the first is possible.

SPECIAL NOTE ON DISCUSSION BOARD AND SYNCHRONOUS SESSION CHAT NETIQUETTE George Mason University is a place for civil debate, exchange of ideas, learning, and mutual respect. Discussion Boards and the Chat function on our Zoom Synchronous Sessions are great opportunities to engage in the intellectual life of the university with your fellow students and professor. However, this must be done in an atmosphere of openness, respect, and civility. Please read these useful suggestions on being productive contributors to the class's intellectual community. Pay particular attention when you are responding to the ideas of others. Make sure you have understood what they have said, keeping in mind that it can be easy when you are not in a face-to-face environment to take something the wrong way. Be respectful and non-confrontational keeping in mind that your goals are rooted not in winning an argument but in keeping the conversation going. <https://elearningindustry.com/10-netiquette-tips-online-discussions>

2. Reflections Assignments (10%) To encourage you to watch and think about mini-lectures, supplementary videos, and to complete readings, you will be asked to complete one to three assignment reflections in each Module. These are a low-stakes assignment in which you will be asked to write just a couple of sentences summarizing or analyzing some aspect of what you have learned. Any good faith effort to complete these assignment reflections will receive a perfect score. With the exception of Module 1, these must be all be completed 30 minutes prior to the Module's Synchronous Session. All Reflections assignments are equally weighted, and the combined score in all discussion boards is weighted at 10% of the final course grade.

3. Readings Essays (20%) You will be asked to complete two essays based on readings in the course. The first will be on the book Yashka by Maria Botchkareva. The book is in the public domain and made freely available to you in Module 2. The full details of the assignment can be found in that module. The essay is due Friday, February 26, at 11:59pm.

The second will be on the book The Queue by Vladimir Sorokin. You will need to acquire this book via the GMU Bookstore or online seller. The assignment appears in Module 10 where you will find the full details of the assignment once the Module has been released. The essay is due Friday, April 16, at 11:59pm.

A separate grading rubric will be provided for each essay.

Each Reading Essay is equally weighted, and the combined score of the Reading Essays is weighted at 20% of the final course grade.

4. Film Responses (20%) You will watch approximately ten films in this course, a combination of documentary films about the time and place we are studying and dramatic films made in the Soviet Union or Russia at a particular moment in history. You will respond to these films with a short writing assignment. Complete descriptions of the assignment and grading along with a grading rubric can be found within the learning modules.

Each Film Response is equally weighted, and the combined score of the Film Responses is weighted at 20% of the final course grade.

5. Examination Essays (30%) You will write three essays to sum up and check your learning through the course. You will have a week to complete each of these assignments. The first will be released to you Friday, February 26, at 11:59pm and will be due by Friday, March 5, at 11:59pm. The second will be released to you Friday, March 26, at 11:59pm and will be due by Friday, April 2, at 11:59pm. The final exam essay will be released to you on Tuesday, April 27 at 11:59pm and will be due by Tuesday, May 4, at 11:59pm.

Each Examination Essay is equally weighted, and the combined score of the Examination Essays is weighted at 30% of the final course grade.

6. Extra Credit (maximum 5%) Students may earn up to 5% on their final grade through attendance and writing an essay based on a variety of events related to the history of Russia and the former Soviet Union over the course of the semester. More details may be found under the “Extra Credit Opportunities” tab on the Blackboard Course Menu.

Course Policies

Course Materials and Student Privacy

- All course materials posted to Blackboard or other course sites are private to this class and are not to be shared publicly or with anyone not enrolled in this class. Some kinds of participation in online study sites violate the Mason Honor code: these include accessing exam or quiz questions for this class; accessing exam, quiz, or assignment answers for this class; uploading of any of the instructor's materials or exams; and uploading any of your own answers or finished work. Always consult your syllabus and your professor before using these sites.

- By federal law, any materials that identify specific students (via their name, voice, or image) must not be shared with anyone not enrolled in this class.
- Video recordings — whether made by instructors or students — of class meetings that include audio, visual, or textual information from other students are private and must not be shared outside the class.
- Live video conference meetings (e.g. Collaborate or Zoom) that include audio, textual, or visual information from other students must be viewed privately and not shared with others in your household or recorded and shared outside the class.
- Some/All of our synchronous meetings in this class will be recorded to provide necessary information for students in this class. Recordings will be stored on Blackboard [or other secure site] and will only be accessible to students taking this course during this semester.

Academic Integrity:

- The integrity of the University community is affected by the individual choices made by each of us. Mason has an Honor Code with clear guidelines regarding academic integrity. Three fundamental and rather simple principles to follow at all times are that: (1) all work submitted be your own; (2) when using the work or ideas of others, including fellow students, give full credit through accurate citations; and (3) if you are uncertain about the ground rules on a particular assignment, ask for clarification. No grade is important enough to justify academic misconduct. Plagiarism means using the exact words, opinions, or factual information from another person without giving the person credit. Writers give credit through accepted documentation styles, such as parenthetical citation, footnotes, or endnotes. Paraphrased material must also be cited, using the appropriate format for this class. A simple listing of books or articles is not sufficient. Plagiarism is the equivalent of intellectual robbery and cannot be tolerated in the academic setting. If you have any doubts about what constitutes plagiarism, please see me.

Disability Accommodations:

- Students with disabilities who seek accommodations in a course must be registered with the George Mason University Office of Disability Services \(ODS\) and inform their instructor, in writing, at the beginning of the semester. All academic accommodations must be arranged through that office. Please note that accommodations MUST BE MADE BEFORE assignments or exams are due. I cannot adjust your grade after the fact.

- Disability Services at George Mason University is committed to providing equitable access to learning opportunities for all students by upholding the laws that ensure equal treatment of people with disabilities. If you are seeking accommodations for this class, please first visit <http://ds.gmu.edu/> for detailed information about the Disability Services registration process. Then please discuss your approved accommodations with me. Disability Services is located in Student Union Building I (SUB I), Suite 2500. Email:ods@gmu.edu | Phone: (703) 993-2474

Diversity Statement:

- In this course, we seek to create a learning environment that fosters respect for people across identities. We welcome and value individuals and their differences, including gender expression and identity, race, economic status, sex, sexuality, ethnicity, national origin, first language, religion, age and ability. We encourage all members of the learning environment to engage with the material personally, but to also be open to exploring and learning from experiences different than their own.

Late Assignments:

- All assignments must be turned in on the due date given in the Course Calendar and on Blackboard. Fully recognizing the potential for health and/or personal circumstances to intervene in the midst of a pandemic, I will work with students if it becomes necessary to turn in an assignment late if you contact me prior to the stated deadline so that we may reach an agreement on a revised schedule. However, absent truly exceptional circumstances, Discussion Board posts will not be accepted after the beginning of the Synchronous Session for the subsequent module, as your contributions to the Discussion Board are critical not only for your own but for your fellow students' learning. No assignments will be accepted after 11:59pm, Tuesday, May 4.

Instructor-Student Communication:

- Please see the Meet and Contact Your Instructors page on Blackboard for communication policies.
