

Description

This concentration combines a liberal arts curriculum and the practicality of business skills. Focuses around a central idea: Knowing how people react to organizations and how organizations react to people. Provides a foundation for the pursuit of graduate degrees, as well as the skills employers are seeking in a wide variety of career fields such as business, events management, health services, leadership, and nonprofit organizations. Students have the opportunity to declare a business minor while pursuing this concentration.

Internship & Career Opportunities

Students may explore internship and career opportunities in the following areas:

- * Non-Profit Organizations
- * Business management
- * Federal Government Organizations
- * Non-government Organizations (NGO's)

Semester long Fellows Programs

- * Non-profit Fellows Program
- * Social Innovation Fellows

Why Integrative Studies

The Bachelor of Arts degree program in Integrative Studies is based on intensive, interdisciplinary learning communities coordinated with traditional academic programs. The result is an integrated program of study that emphasizes collaboration, experiential learning, and self-reflection. The degree program requires mastery of eight essential competencies: communication, global understanding, group interaction, aesthetic awareness, critical thinking, civic engagement, digital literacy, and well-being.

Continuing Education Opportunities:

With advanced planning, students may be eligible for the following accelerated master's programs at Mason:

- ~ International Commerce & Policy (MA)
- ~ Political Science (MA)
- ~ Public Policy (MPP)
- ~ Sport & Recreation Studies (MS)

The School of Integrative Studies also offers a Master of Arts in Interdisciplinary Studies (MAIS) with concentrations in:

Social Justice and Human Rights
