SUMMER SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION

Request for Summer Funding from the Department

INSTRUCTIONS: The Department of Criminology, Law and Society is pleased to offer a competitive funding opportunity to promote doctoral student training, research, and professional development this summer. All doctoral students are invited to apply for a CLS Doctoral Student Summer Scholarship, which will support a variety of student activities including attendance at (virtual) methodological training programs, data collection related-expenses for dissertation research or other independent research projects, and tuition assistance for required course work over the summer. As noted in the attached, students may request stipend funding, so long as they are engaged in research over the summer. Please complete the following form and provide appropriate attachments to request travel funding from the department. *This form should also be used if you are requesting graduate student travel funding for conferences in June, July, and/or August.
