COURSE SYLLABUS

In this course we will examine problems of text and authority presented by fictive literature. Through close readings of texts considered philosophical, theoretical and fictional we will address the problem of truth from different angles and get different answers to the question: ‘what is true?’ We will also explore the question of writing itself as both a productive and reproductive enterprise. What is the status of the author? What is the relationship between authority and truth in/of a text? Plato poses our first questions here by the elaborate framing of his own authority and the critical examination of the limits of the written word. In their own ways O’Brien and Lispector can be seen as responding to this Platonic challenge by transforming the relationships between truth, writing and reality. Similarly, Barthes and Cixous develop and deepen the problem of authority and the production of writing initiated by Plato. Through close reading and class discussion we will explore these philosophical issues that are not limited to the realm of literature but are perhaps best exemplified there.

REQUIRED TEXTS

There are four texts you are expected to acquire for the course.

Lispector, Clarice, The Passion According to G.H., I. Novey (trans), New Directions, 2012
ISBN-13: 978-0811219686

O’Brien, Tim, The Things They Carried, Mariner Books, 2009
ISBN-13: 978-0544309760
(other editions acceptable)

Plato, Five Dialogues, G.M.A. Grube (trans), Hackett, 2002
ISBN-13: 978-0872206335

Plato, Phaedrus, S. Scully (trans), Focus, 2003
ISBN-13: 978-0941051545

Texts to be posted on Blackboard as pdf:

- Barthes, “The Death of the Author”
- Borges, “Pierre Menard, Author of the Quixote”
- Cixous, “The Laugh of the Medusa”
- Freud, “The Infantile Genital Organization” & “Medusa’s Head”
- Freud, selection from The Question of Lay Analysis
- Gauthier, “Is There Such a Thing as Women’s Writing?”
- Nietzsche, “On Truth and Lie in an Extra-Moral Sense”

I may post additional short texts to Blackboard as the semester progresses.

Readings on BB: Beginning in Week Four we will be using texts printed from Blackboard. Unless you have copies of the original source material (i.e. books), you will be responsible for printing off each of the readings listed above so that you have a paper copy to work with in class.

Please note: this is a course requirement. We will be doing close work with the texts both in class and for assignments. In addition, all laptops, phones and other electronic devices must be turned off during class time, so you must have a paper copy of each class reading with you.

Printing costs should not exceed $5 (in total), based on the JC print costs of 10c per page. A proportion of your participation grade will be attached to producing your own portfolio of readings (see section on participation below). Checklists for the portfolio will be distributed at the first class.

Course Reading Expectations

The schedule of readings is given below. I will expect you to have done the set reading before the relevant class. This means reading through the set text or texts at least once; going back and re-reading either the whole text, or the passages that seem especially important/difficult/puzzling/interesting to you; and writing down your thoughts and questions on the text (I recommend keeping a notebook just for your reading notes for this course that you can bring to class, as a reminder of what you want to ask or comment on).

- If you don't have questions, you're not reading properly! If you do the reading in advance, you will get a lot more out of classes, because you will have a lot more to put in.

Questions and Problems:

If you have a question about the course, or a problem with a class or assignment, please do one or more of the following:

- ask in class (often others will have the same question/concern, so this will help everyone)
- email me with a question or query: kbrandho@gmu.edu
- come and see me in my open office hours or email me for an appointment

I will respond to emails as soon as I reasonably can, though as a general rule I will not answer emails in the late evening or between Saturday morning and Sunday evening. This means you need to plan ahead – please don't leave questions about assignments or reading until the last minute!

COVID and COVID related special circumstances

If you miss an assignment or believe that you will miss an assignment due to circumstances surrounding COVID (including for example, illness, self-quarantine, care for family who are ill, etc.) please contact me as soon as possible so that we can make arrangements and chart a way forward.

COURSEWORK AND GRADING

Basic breakdown:

1. Attendance:	0%
2. Participation:	5%
3. Lispector Quiz	5%
4. Nietzsche Worksheet:	10%
5. Two Response Papers	15% each
6. Plato Mid-Term:	20%
7. Final Paper	30%

1) Attendance:

There are no points for showing up. However, showing up has value for all other aspects of assessment and you should not expect to do well on the course if you miss classes. In addition, points can be lost for not showing up: we only have 28 class meetings on the material of the course; every absence after the second will result in a 10% penalty in the participation grade. Hence 12 absences would result in a 100% reduction of the participation grade. Regarding the penalty, extenuating circumstances will be considered in line with University policies but cannot make up for the effect that an absence has in understanding the material.

ALSO, this is not a distance learning course and so, in order to pass the course, you must attend at least 15 classes.

2) Participation:

Class discussion is an essential feature of the course and I will regularly invite participation. Please come prepared to discuss the material as assigned and be ready to take part in classroom activities. This means both reading and thinking about the texts in advance of the class meeting. Participation is distinct from both presence and mere talk. There will be short reading quizzes from time to time and I will be using Blackboard to set reading/discussion questions each week. You will be expected to participate in these Blackboard discussions: post a serious and meaningful comment for at least 8 of the 14 weeks to receive participation points.

Portfolio of readings: as noted above, from Week 4 onwards you are responsible for printing off the set readings for each class (all readings will be available on BB). A checklist of the required readings will be provided in class 1. As having a paper copy of the text to work with in class is essential, 1/5 of your of your participation grade will be dependent on producing your own portfolio of course readings. Once you have printed off the readings for the course, you should ask another member of the class to check your portfolio is complete, sign off the checklist for you, and hand it to me. This must be completed by the end of class on Thursday February 10th (week 3).

3) Lispector Quiz:

There will be a short quiz on The Passion According to G.H. on the final day of discussion of Lispector (Apr 28th)

4) Nietzsche Worksheet:

There will be a take-home worksheet on Nietzsche. This will involve 5 or 6 short answer questions. Answers are expected to be text based.

5) Response Papers:

During the course of the semester 3 response paper topics will be assigned (see course outline below for dates); you will be expected to complete 2 of these assignments. The responses will be 3-4 typed pages and will involve no more than 25% summary of the assigned text: analysis, evaluation and critical explication are expected (this is an occasion for you to demonstrate thought as well as understanding). These assignments will have firm due dates and no responses will normally be accepted late without specific extenuating circumstances --- please contact me if you are not able to meet the deadline. NB: I will answer content and formal questions about these papers in advance of the due date but under normal circumstances I will not read drafts for these papers --- this is a matter of volume and fairness; I may, however, propose to you as an individual that you should submit a draft. My office hours (see above) are a good time to meet to discuss your ideas and pose questions.

6) Plato Mid-Term:

At the end of our discussions of Plato, there will be a take-home exam. The exam will focus on the exposition of key concepts and arguments from the readings. This exam paper will be made available on Blackboard on Tuesday February 15th. NB: this is worth 20% of the final grade so give this serious attention.

7) Final Paper

The final paper of 5-7 pages will be produced in stages and will involve peer review. There will be a due date in Week 14 for drafts of the final paper. These drafts will be made available to a group of your peers and the class sessions of Week 15 will be given over to the peer review process. In addition I will be holding additional office hours that week to discuss your drafts. The paper is worth 30% of the final grade: 5% for timely submission of a comprehensive draft (this is all or nothing --- i.e. you meet the deadline or you don't; you provide a comprehensive draft or you don't) and 25% for the final product. Further information about the paper and the peer review process will be made available later in the semester.

*) Plagiarism

This is a major violation of trust and academic integrity. Do not present others' work as your own. Passive Plagiarism (failing to cite sources) is as bad as Active Plagiarism (downloading an essay off the internet). Also, work submitted for this course must be uniquely created for this course. If I suspect plagiarism I will inform you and the university administration in writing. NB: I reserve the right to conduct an oral examination on any piece of work.

The Honor Code: "All George Mason University students have agreed to abide by the letter and the spirit of the Honor Code. You can find a copy of the Honor Code at academicintegrity.gmu.edu. All violations of the Honor Code will be reported to the Honor Committee for review."

Submitting Written Work

All written assignments must be submitted on the Blackboard site for this course by the relevant deadline (see course schedule below). There will be a clearly marked section on Blackboard for each assignment.

Unless otherwise noted, one paper copy must also be handed in at class or they can be handed in at the 6th floor Horizon Hall reception desk, clearly marked with my name, your name and the course title section (PHIL 253-005 or 006). The reception desk team will put these in my mail tray.

Please note:

- The date of submission will be taken from when you upload the work on Blackboard. If there is a system problem that means you can't upload the work, email me and let me know.
- Once a paper copy is submitted, you can expect feedback/comments and notice of your grade. For paper copies submitted on the due date, I make every effort to mark and return this work within 2 weeks. Paper copies submitted after the due date but before the end of the semester go to the end of the grading queue (note that I have multiple classes this semester) and will be returned as soon as possible. If no paper copy is submitted by the end of the semester a grade will still be entered but you will not get feedback/comments on your work.

Extensions can be arranged in exceptional circumstances if you have a good reason for submitting work late but you must let me know (by email is fine). Extensions cannot be given beyond the last day of the exam period. Whenever possible it is much better to try to arrange an extension with me in advance. This will make things less stressful for all concerned: you will be able to plan your assignments more effectively; I will be able to plan my grading and give better (less rushed) feedback.

COVID

In line with GMU policies, all students taking courses with a face-to-face component are required to follow the university's public health and safety precautions and procedures outlined on the university Safe Return to Campus webpage (<https://www2.gmu.edu/safe-return-campus>). This includes completing the daily COVID Health Check, which uses a color code system (students receive either a Green, Yellow, or Red email response). Only students who receive a "green" notification are permitted to attend courses with a face-to-face component. If you suspect that you are sick or have been directed to self-isolate, please quarantine or get testing. Faculty are allowed to ask you to show them that you have received a Green email and are thereby permitted to be in class.

Also, in all face to face meetings (i.e. classes and in person office hours) we are all expected to wear masks. An appropriate facemask must cover your nose and mouth at all times in our classroom. Should the University's COVID policy change I will inform you on BB and by email.

Changes to the modality of the course will only take place in consultation with the CHSS Dean's Office and will reflect changes in the health status of the instructor or the community as a whole. Please watch emails and BB for updates.

Commitment to Diversity

There are many occasions when there are two sides to an issue. There are some that do not admit of two sides: Black Lives Matter. Anti-racism is a default position for this class. I will work toward this from an acknowledged point of privilege; I will expect the class to cohere with this project. Thus, diversity will not be used as a cover for abuse.

In keeping with the general ethos of the University, this class seeks to create a learning environment that fosters respect for people across differences. We welcome and value individuals and their differences, including gender expression and identity, race, economic status, sex, sexuality, ethnicity, national origin, first language, religion, age and ability. We encourage all members of the learning environment to engage with the material personally, but to also be open to exploring and learning from experiences different than their own.

NB This does not mean not being critical: respecting others' views means taking them seriously, and taking them seriously means thinking about their strengths and weaknesses, asking questions, and offering constructive criticisms or alternative viewpoints where appropriate. It also means thinking about where the views of others challenge our own, and being open to what they have to teach us. Valuing diversity is not just an attitude – it is a matter of developing an active practice. Amongst other things, this practice involves:

- learning to listen to other perspectives;
- being open to criticism of one's own views;
- being willing to evaluate different positions while being unsure where one stands;
- having good reasons for one's views, but being willing to change one's mind;
- not rushing to judgment;
- basing critical comments or questions on as good an understanding of another person (or text or theory) as one can manage;
- and being willing to accept that there will always be things one cannot see or understand;
- learning to express criticisms and differences of opinion in ways that are not personal or hurtful and that leave space for other voices.

Never be afraid to ask a question or to risk saying something that might be wrong – that is how we learn. But equally, never be afraid to listen to the questions and answers of others, and to let their views challenge and change how you think.

Names and Pronouns

Gender identity and pronoun use: If you wish, please share your name and gender pronouns with me and how best to address you in class and via email. I can be referred to by 'he/him' or 'they' and you may address me as "Kurt" or "Dr. Brandhorst" in email and verbally.

Disability Accommodations

Disability Services at George Mason University is committed to providing equitable access to learning opportunities for all students by upholding the laws that ensure equal treatment of people with disabilities. If you are seeking accommodations for this class, please first visit <http://ds.gmu.edu/> for detailed information about the Disability Services registration process. Then please discuss your approved accommodations with me. Disability Services is located in Student Union Building I (SUB I), Suite 2500. Email: ods@gmu.edu | Phone: (703) 993-2474

Sexual Misconduct and Interpersonal Violence

George Mason University is committed to providing a learning, living and working environment that is free from discrimination and a campus that is free of sexual misconduct and other acts of interpersonal violence in order to promote community well-being and student success. We encourage students who believe that they have been sexually harassed, assaulted or subjected to sexual misconduct to seek assistance and support. University Policy 1202: Sexual Harassment and Misconduct speaks to the specifics of Mason's process, the resources, and the options available to students.

Confidential student resources are available on campus at the Student Support and Advocacy Center (<http://ssac.gmu.edu/>), Counseling and Psychological Services (<http://caps.gmu.edu/>), and Student Health Services (<http://shs.gmu.edu/>).

As a faculty member and designated “Non-Confidential Employee”, I am required to report all disclosures of sexual assault, sexual harassment, interpersonal violence, stalking, sexual exploitation, complicity, and retaliation to Mason’s Title IX Coordinator per University Policy 1202. If you wish to speak with someone confidentially, please contact one of Mason’s confidential resources, such as Student Support and Advocacy Center (SSAC) at 703-993-3686 or Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) at 703-993-2380. You may also seek assistance or support measures from Mason’s Title IX Coordinator by calling 703-993-8730, or emailing titleix@gmu.edu.
