COURSE SCOPE AND OBJECTIVES - Making the modern world:

This course will explore the sweeping historical changes that have created today's world by examining the interactions of the Americas, Europe, Asia, & Africa from 1500 to the present. The aim is to show how various political, economic, and social forces have led to a paradox for those living in the early 21st century: a globalized world, yes, but also one in which the histories, cultures, and values of nations and regions often result in conflict. Students will examine the impact of colonialism and imperialism, war and revolution, as well as social movements that are the basis for the challenges men and women around the globe will face in the new millennium.

TEACHING TECHNIQUES and EXAMINATIONS:

Using a "semi-Socratic" method, this course is based on lectures, classroom discussions, & readings. If you are prepared, your contributions will lead to a more lively, interesting experience for everyone. In other words, your participation in class will benefit your final grade. This is especially true for students who have borderline grades between a plus or minus; for example, a C might become a C+, or a B+ might become an A-.

All examinations will be given in class. A study guide will be supplied prior to each of the three exams. The first exam will cover material assigned for the first day of class up through the session prior to the exam itself. The second exam will only cover material between the first and second exams. The final exam will only cover material after the second exam — meaning these exams are not cumulative.

Students who are permitted to take exams at the Test Center must obtain the paperwork & send it to me immediately: I also require a paper copy for my records so I know who is allowed this extra time for exams.

You are personally responsible for knowing the time and date of all exams and other assignments. Check your E-mail daily. You are required to take each exam on the date set by the instructor; students are not allowed to take exams at a time of their choosing. If you fail to take an exam without a documented excuse (usually medical in nature), you will not be allowed to take a make-up exam. You will be given a zero grade without appeal. The dates for exams are given in the syllabus calendar. (Note: the dates for the first and second exams are tentative.)

Make-up exams will be given at a mutually convenient time for the instructor and student. It is up to the student to resolve the matter of make-up work with the instructor — not the other way around.

Regarding the final exam: The date for this last test is set by the University and does not conflict with exam times for other courses. Because this date is announced now, I do not make allowances for students' travel plans. If you make travel plans that conflict with the final exam you will, as stated above, be assigned a zero grade for this test by failing to take the test at the announced time.

ATTENDANCE:

Since lectures and discussions are the foundation of this course, class attendance is mandatory. Each student is responsible for all material and all announcements presented at each lecture. Students should also be aware that they will be tested on material covered in class but which will not necessarily be found in the assigned readings - and vice versa. If a student must miss a class, (s)he should arrange to obtain class notes from a fellow student. Lecture notes will not - under any circumstances - be provided by the instructor.

A great amount of reading is required for this course and it is important that students stay ahead of the readings to be prepared for classroom discussions. Failure to attend class on a regular basis makes it extremely difficult to keep abreast of the course; the result is a lower or even a failing grade for the course. Specifically, the final course grades for students who fail to attend class on a regular basis (as determined by the instructor) will drop an entire letter grade - without exception. This is beyond the 10 percent part of your grade covered by "classroom participation/attendance and quizzes". Valid excuses for missed lectures (again, usually medical in nature) must be in writing.

MISCELLANEOUS:

Classroom decorum - Students are expected to show up for class on time and, once in class, to remain for the entire session, except in case of emergency. Arriving late or leaving in the middle of a lecture is disruptive and disrespectful to your fellow students. Students who leave in the middle of a session can expect to be called out to explain why they are disrupting class in this manner. Those who violate these rules can expect to receive a lower course grade.

Use of lap-top computers & audio-recorders - All lap-top computers & any other such devices (e.g., Tablets) are banned from these sessions. You should use paper & pen or pencil for taking lecture notes. If you are unable to do so because of a medical issue, you must provide documentation, usually in the form of a doctor's letter, to be exempted from this ban. You may record lectures if you wish but only after consulting with me, first.

Cell phones are to be turned off at the beginning of each class. Repeated failure to do so will adversely affect your course grade. Any attempt to use unauthorized devices during an examination will constitute grounds for failing the course. You are welcome to bring drinks to class. However, eating in class is forbidden. Put another way, I don't lecture in your kitchen; don't eat in my classroom.

Cheating and plagiarism - Either offense will constitute grounds for failing the course. The university has a code governing academic ethics. Any student who is caught cheating on a quiz or exam or who plagiarizes will have his or her case sent to the Dean's Office for adjudication.

E-mail - I am happy to answer your questions via E-mail. Because over 180 students are taking courses with me this semester, however, I cannot — & will not — respond unless you identify yourself in the subject line of each E-mail, beginning with the course number & section number. For example:

HIST 125/10 – YOUR LAST NAME, & the reason for your letter.

If history is not a topic you like and/or if English is a second language, I strongly recommend that you form study groups. Students who fall into either or both of these categories have told me that forming small groups of seven or eight students helped them immensely in this course. It also helps for sharing lecture notes. Again — I do not provide lecture notes to students for any reason.

GRADING SCALE:

First examination	25 percent
Second (mid-term) examination	30 percent
Final examination	35 percent
Classroom participation/attendance/quizzes:	10 percent
Total:	<hr/> 100 percent

90-100	A - signifies remarkable, outstanding work showing complete mastery of the subject. A+ 97 - 100 A 93 - 96.9 A- 90 - 92.9
80-89	B - signifies work that is above the average expectations for this course. B+ 87 - 89.9 B 82 - 86.9 B- 80 - 81.9
70-79	C - signifies work that meets average university standards. C+ 77 - 79.9 C 72 - 76.9 C- 70 - 71.9
60-69	D - signifies work that is below average but is a passing grade.
59-below	F - signifies failure.

I do not grade on a curve. Nor is it possible to offer extra credit work - for any reason. Students should instead devote their energies to the assignments laid out in this syllabus. If a student merits an “A”, that is the grade that he or she will receive. Having said that, I again point out that “A” work as defined above is genuinely outstanding and shows complete mastery of the subject. While I hope that every student will strive to meet this standard, it will not be easy to obtain such a grade.
